The President
The White House
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

Please read with care and consideration the following suggestion from a small group of private citizens.

In view of the fact that the Russians make a big propaganda issue out of what they consider to be any blunder the United States makes, it is our conviction that if the United States would do something to make a real impression on the uneducated people of this earth these issues would be of little or no value to the Communist world.

These people are the uninformed as well as the uneducated people of the world. If these people could see with their own eyes something the United States did rather than something they have heard; it is our true conviction that they would hold a deeper respect for our Country.

To make this great impression we believe that an object large enough to be plainly seen with the naked eye should be placed in a polar orbit so all the people of the world could observe it. This object would be of beauty to all the people and a divine wonder to the people in the dark areas of the world.

We believe when all people see this beautiful sight in
